EKKLESIA-MISSIO DEI The churh on God's mission

FROM THE DIRECTOR OF MISSIONS

Last January when I wrote my article for The Reminder, I quoted Tod Bolsinger from his book Canoeing the Mountains when he writes, The world ahead of us looks nothing like the world behind us. Little did I realize how quickly our world would look differently. 2020 was projected by many as the "Year of Vision". Yet with a global pandemic, heightened tension and division throughout our nation and around the world, economic challenges and a record number of natural disasters, 2020 seemed more like a bad dream for many.

However, 2020 may have clarified our "vision" far more than we realize. It certainly has brought into focus several things of great importance as we continue to find ways to live out God's mission in a rapidly changing world.

- It has clarified our vision that God's church is so much more than a building. As restrictions were put in place, we found creative ways to keep the people of God connected. We gained a clearer picture of what it looks like to be the church.
- It has clarified our vision that relationships matter more than we might have realized. Caring about people and caring for people needs to be something we value highly.

- It has clarified our vision to engage in our communities. Living as missionaries right here at home among our own family, friends and neighbors is an essential part of living out God's mission
- It has clarified our vision for the church to be equipped to live out God's mission. We must not rely on "professional clergy" to do all the ministry, but "to equip His people for works of service, so that the body of Christ may be built up."
- It has clarified our vision that the gospel is more real, relevant, and urgent than we have made it out to be. As change happens all around us, the true change that needs to take place is through the transformational power of the gospel of Jesus Christ.

So maybe 2020 was more of the "Year of Vision" that we realize. Our vision remains true – that every church is living out the grace of the gospel and sharing the gospel of grace. Now, more than ever, it is time for us to know God's mission; be His Church; and Live it Out!

Grace and Peace!
